Still under undressed, Eona's unprecedented talent immerses in the center of a deadly struggle for imperial throne. He convened by the emperor to the opulent and infidible court, Ejas must learn to trust her power and find strength to face a fierce enemy that would grasp her magic. . . And the life of her. Inspired by ancient Chinese traditions and sharing the wonders of films such as tiger and dragon, this compelling novel is set in a world imagined brilliantly in which both appearances and loyalty can prove in a very deceptive way. ~~~~. This book is like a punch in the stomach. Well written and brilliantly realized, the book tells the story of a young * Stepio Eon, who hides his identity of a woman to be able to become a dragon. Only men are authorized to be candidates but eon (eona) is the brilliant of all. Not only is it possible to hear the dragons and control his best Hua (energy), but he is the only one who can see all the dragons as if they were physical beings. The plot looks like a coming-of-age adventure of a poor humble child who goes on to save an empire, but he has in fact strong political and social themes, as well as a humanistic approach. The struggle of Eja and the commitment of him to transform as a boy in order to have a lifetime is the struggle of all women in this world. But the story is not limited to the man / woman struggles. The shows History of poverty in some regions of the empire and cases of slavery for some people, as well as the struggle of the less skilled (EONA has a paralyzed leg and its graphic friend has communication problems) to be recognized as a correct Human beings and not as lower beings / animals / devil.eon creatures / EONA is a really fascinating character. EON is constantly struggling to bury it more profound every day and try to show the world that a cripple can do all these things. Eon's ambition has no end and that everything you need to get there. Eon also has a heart and he is generous with people, especially when they don't just see the cripples leg. All other characters are multi-layered and have their own private fight to deal with. I really liked the diversity of characters and loved characters like Lady of, Chart and Eon that would show that sometimes the outside is not what is really inside. I always thought that the imagination was a way to talk about reality, in other words and I find very realistic characters and bringing very contemporary themes. The setting of history is breathtaking. From places for traditions and organization of society. Alison Goodman creates a carefully and meticulously described painting of the world of Eon. The Chinese and Japanese influences are visible but are masterfully braided with an original fantasy world. The two pearls of wisdom is one of the most interesting effort to set up a fantasy world in a world of eastern inspiration. The cultural aspect is very rich and the whole empire, with its set of tradition and beliefs is simply impeccable. Dragons and the Hua are really fascinating and the book is a fantastic addition to gender (starting from 2009, of course :). I am literally in love with this book and I can't wait to dive into the second The necklace of the gods. If you are a fantasy fan, the originality of incredible history and writing and the plot will be amazed. Non-fantasy fans can, like writing, characters and strong ideas under history. Go to read it! * The word "crippie" has a worsening sense, but it is widely used the book. The two pearls of wisdom / oon | ALISON GOODMAN | 2009 | Bought and read my Kindle 14 My ratings: Star :: Star :: Star :: Star :: Star: what I like I don't like synopsis: you follow the story of Eon, which has the potential to become a dragon. [5] Synopsis EON studied the ancient art of Magic Dragon for four years, in the hope that he will be chosen as an apprentice from a Dragon. The dragon's eyes are human connections to the twelve dragons of good luck, which provide energy to the earth. However, circumstance does not favor EON; He is a crevice and despised by the trainers and other candidates for the ceremony. They believe of him embodies had disabled and try to get the distances, all except a boy named dillon who is Bully victim for her small size. Master of Eon, Heuris Brannon, places all the hope and the decrease in wealth in him student, who is able to see all the twelve dragons in mind. This company is almost unknown and pray that the ascending dragon this cycle, which is the caretaker of ambition, will be extracted to the enormous power demonstrated. However, eon has a dark darkness Unknown to all except himself and his teacher: It is actually Eona, a sixteen year old girl who has been living a lie for the chance to become a Dragoneye. It is forbidden for females to practice dragon magic; This is due to the common conviction that the female eye, so practiced to look at himself, he can't see other things in life with true clarity. The chosen day comes too quickly and the corrupt Dragoneye rat, Lord Ido, seized the domain on the Council. He rotates the current practice of ceremonial performances and instead reports the old fighting. The blood crowds approve, but this only adds to the wrong assembly of the EONA must bear. Not only did he give the unfortunate number of her death, 4, but he has to face with that of the two trainers who bring a grudge against her. Against the odds, the dragon rat chooses him friend Dillon, the smallest of the group. Here, he appears as if the protagonist has failed and the richness of his master is all lost; However, since the remaining candidates proceed to the arena to the emperor, the dragon of the mirror, which has been lost for five hundred years, returns. He chooses Ejas, which becomes a gentleman due to the absence of a current Dragoneye mirror. Very to the fury of the Lord Ido, all the dragons are enriched with the dragon mirror, including him. This is impossible because its is the ascending dragon, but the message is clear: The dragon mirror, the truthless goalkeeper, holds power over all other dragons. Discourage those who oppose him, the poisons of Ido Heuris Brannon, the appointed proxy of Eja (the Eja consultant until years). Meanwhile, the country grows more and more restless. A battle concerns the interception between the emperor and one of him's brothers, high Lord Sethon, who wants to make a complaint for the throne. Lord Ido approached Sethon and like Emperor Eping, it is clear that the empire will soon be under the civil war. The emperor and heir of him, Prince Kygo, attempt to use the return of the mirror dragon as a good omen for their kingdom. This launch is in the midst of their struggle for power. Panics, without knowledge for those who trust her except her friend of her friend Lady Dela (a man born but who is a woman in the spirit) and the guard of the body of Dela, the island Ryko. Voltage supports and soon the battle starts. Eja finds himself in trouble; Ido discovers the real kind of her and the dragon of her vanishes and then disappears completely. When you talk to Dillon he realizes that he does not have the name of his Dragon and therefore he can't communicate correctly. He consults the professor of the palace / librarian, who can't find the red folio of the dragon mirror. Ejas suspicious Lord Ido and realizes that he has shown him plan him, killing all the other dragons and apprentices in an offer for more power. In his library he meets an almost crazy dillon that finds the red folio in detail how it is possible to create a "string of pearls", with 2 dragoneyes exploiting the power of normal 12. Puts the pieces together and is horrified to discover that IDO wish that the two are the only two left alive Dragoneyes. However, Dillon takes off with the black folio as an Eja Save Ryko from the pain caused by dragon hallucination. Prince Kygo flees and his little brother, the only heir of the emperor, is killed by Lord Sethon. In despair the wounded dela, limping an evening and wound Ryko tries to escape, but Ido orders the men of him to find them. Dela continues to decode the red folio, which is written in the screenplay of women, for the name of the EONA dragon. While the war intensifies and everything seems to be lost in this final comparison, Della screams that the name of the dragon is the name of her; EONA. She convenes her dragon, the queen of the skies, and I'm in fact united, with Healing of the paralyzed leg of EONA in the process. Together the dragon mirror and the dragoneye force the compassion of strength on Ido and the trio makes their escape to the river. River. ~ The two pearls of the wisdom of Alison Goodman".
